The California community college system includes 114 colleges which respond to the diverse educational needs of the communities they serve. These colleges provide access to all who can profit from their offerings and are responsive to the mental, emotional, social, and physical needs of their students.

The California community colleges are committed to a curriculum which fosters intellectual development, critical thinking, self-direction, social responsibility, and cultural appreciation. These objectives are accomplished in the context of programs leading to academic excellence, ease of transfer, vocational skill development, and the preparation of students for full and meaningful lives.

Intercollegiate athletic programs for men and women embody the educational principles of the California community colleges. Athletic activities provide learning experiences which align with the Greek concept of sound mind, body, and spirit.

Athletic participation promotes the physical and mental wellbeing of the student-athlete. Sport programs are planned to emphasize principles of good sportsmanship, social consciousness, leadership, cooperation, and individual achievement.

The CCCAA Constitution and Bylaws has been developed to promote and ensure academic progress, amateurism, ethical conduct, and equitable competition for student-athletes. Institutional self-compliance is essential to the achievement of the educational goals of the intercollegiate athletic programs.

The California Community College Athletic Association is authorized by the California Education Code to supervise the administration of the men and women’s intercollegiate athletic programs. The CCCAA Constitution and Bylaws includes policies and procedures guiding the administration of California community college athletic programs.

It is the responsibility of the institution to administer its programs in compliance with CCCAA Constitution and Bylaws and conference policies and procedures. Colleges, through their conferences, are given opportunities to provide input into the development of rules and regulations.

The CCCAA is committed to the value of gender equity for both men and women in intercollegiate athletics through its structures, policies, and procedures. The Association and colleges shall act affirmatively to assure gender equity in the quality and quantity of participation in athletics.

The following are vision, mission, and governing values of the CCCAA as listed in Article 1 of the Constitution and Bylaws:

Vision — The CCCAA shall be a student-centered organization focused on academic and athletic excellence.

Mission — The mission of the CCCAA is to advocate for the overall well-being of student athletes through the governance, promotion and support of intercollegiate athletic programs.

Values — The CCCAA believes in student health and welfare, academic and athletic success, ethical conduct, accountability, recognition of academic and athletic excellence and an inclusive culture that fosters equitable participation.
