COMMUNITY SERVICE EFFORTS

In keeping with Haverford’s tradition of service and ethical action, lacrosse players volunteer for a number of organizations and programs, including:
- Clinic and tutoring at two orphanages in Portugal
- Books for Breast Cancer
- L.E.A.P.S., providing lacrosse coaching and mentoring in underserved communities
- Values Through Sports, serving at-risk youth
- Prostate cancer awareness
- Special Olympics
- Habitat for Humanity
- Education and tutoring programs
In the fall of 2008, Swan Field opened for competition. The artificial playing surface is named in honor of Dana Swan, former associate director of admission, football coach, men’s lacrosse coach, and athletic director at Haverford College. It allows the lacrosse team to compete in a state-of-the-art, lighted facility with a FieldTurf surface, the choice of many professional and collegiate teams.

Haverford’s Swan Field and Douglas B. Gardner ’83 Integrated Athletic Center (GIAC) are optimal facilities that enable our student athletes to compete successfully at a national level. The GIAC is an aesthetically pleasing 100,000-square-foot complex that encourages and enhances athletic participation with state-of-the-art fitness, exercise, and training facilities.

Student-Athlete Profile

Rob McLallen ’19

Hometown: Vienna, Virginia

High School: James Madison

Why Did You Choose Haverford?

I chose Haverford because of the academic rigor and competitive lacrosse environment. There are not many better combinations in the country, and playing in the Centennial Conference is a privilege. The team was the biggest thing that drew me to Haverford. The minute I stepped on campus for my first visit, I knew that I would fit right in. It was nice knowing that I would have 40 friends right off the bat in my first year of college.

What Has Been Your Favorite Team Experience?

I have definitely had some fantastic memories as a Haverford lacrosse player. Without a doubt, my favorite team experience was beating Swarthmore on its home turf to make it to the playoffs for the first time in seven years. We came up short the previous two years with a playoff berth on the line, so this win meant a lot to the team and the program.

What Does Being a Student-Athlete Mean to You?

The life of a Haverford student-athlete comes with many challenges. Balancing school work and lacrosse is a big task, and managing my time properly can get difficult. But being a student-athlete means that I have the skills to thrive on the field and in the classroom, and Haverford supports the student-athletes to help them achieve their goals.

What Are Your Thoughts on the Honor Code?

The Honor Code is a crucial part to being part of the Haverford community. The self-driven environment that the Honor Code embodies helps every student find themselves and grow into successful individuals. I feel the most important part of the Honor Code is the academic portion. It shows that the administration, as well as my fellow classmates, trust one another to act with trust, concern, and respect in every situation.

What Describes a Haverford Men’s Lacrosse Player?

Haverford men’s lacrosse players can be described using our three core values: Daily Improvement, Respect, and Passion. We make it our goal to make every day better than the last. We respect our teammates, our coaches, and our community. We do everything with passion, and we love the game we play.
