The Storyline
Continuing Ivy League action in the midst of a five-game homestand, Harvard men’s basketball will host Yale on Friday, Feb. 1 and Brown on Saturday, Feb. 2. Both games will tip-off at 7 p.m., and will be broadcast on ESPN+ and ESPNU, respectively.

The Opening Tip
• The Crimson holds an 8-7 record on the season, including a 1-1 mark in Ivy League play. Junior Chris Lewis leads qualified players with 13.3 points per game, while first-year Noah Kirkwood (9.9), junior Justin Bassey (9.7) and junior Christian Juzang (9.5) are nearing double figures. Junior Bryce Aiken made his season debut against Howard, and is averaging 15.0 points per game across two appearances.

• Lewis also paces the Ivy League in blocks (2.0) and field goal percentage (64.9), while ranking seventh nationally in the latter category. The Alpharetta, Georgia native is on pace to break the program record for field goal percentage in a career, as he ranked 15th nationally in 2017-18.

• Harvard is 4-1 at home this season, with a net rating of plus-9.5 points per 100 possessions. Since the return of Aiken to the team, Harvard’s net rating has improved to plus-13.6 per 100 possessions, including an impressive team offensive rating of 111.7.

LEADING THE IVY LEAGUE
Among qualified players, junior Chris Lewis holds the top floor goal percentage at 66.3, which is 14.7 percent better than second-place AJ Brodeur from Penn. Lewis also paces the Ivies with 1.9 blocks per game, which is his second-straight year leading both categories. Additionally, Justin Bassey paces all backcourt players on the glass, with 7.3 rebounds per game.

KINGS OF MASSACHUSETTS COURTS
Harvard is 37-15 overall against its in-state rivals under head coach Tommy Amaker, and owns a 27-8 record against Boston area schools with Amaker at the helm. Harvard played four schools from Massachusetts last year (1-1), and is 3-1 against Bay State programs this season. Holy Cross was the program’s final in-state opponent in 2018-19.

OFF THE COURT IN ATLANTA
A day after its win over Mercer and in the middle of its road trip to Georgia and North Carolina, Harvard men’s basketball toured historic Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. landmarks in Atlanta, and attended a service where he was a pastor in the 1950s, Ebenezer Baptist Church. At the church, the team had the opportunity to meet the 39th President of the United States, Jimmy Carter.

AND IN WASHINGTON DC
Prior to meeting Howard for its final non-Ivy matchup on MLK Day, Harvard toured the Martin Luther King Jr. monument near the national mall. Some notable alumna of both programs were in attendance for the game itself in Supreme Court Justice Elena Kagan (Harvard JD ’86) and 2020 Presidential Nominee/Senator Kamala Harris (Howard ’86).

AGAINST THE ATLANTIC 10
Harvard went 3-1 against the A-10 a year ago, with wins over Massachusetts, Saint Joseph’s and Fordham. The team went 2-1 against the conference this year, beating Massachusetts and George Washington.

CAREER-HIGH x2
Junior Justin Bassey and sophomore Danilo Djuricic each set a new career high against Rhode Island Nov. 16. Bassey finished 7-for-9 from the field for 23 points, while Djuricic posted a 7-for-10 mark from the floor for 20 points. Both players hit a trio of 3-pointers, while Bassey knocked down six free throws.

NEARING 400
Head coach Tommy Amaker is just five wins away from reaching 400 career wins at the Division I level, spanning years at Seton Hall, Michigan and Harvard. 134 other coaches have reached 400 career victories.

With two wins this weekend, Amaker will tie former Ohio and Western Carolina head coach Larry Hunter.

- Last Yale Win: 73-71 [3/11/17]

SCOUTING YALE

The Bulldogs are 12-3 on the season, including a 2-0 mark in Ivy play after sweeping Brown. Miye Oni leads the team with 16.2 points per game, while four other players average double figures per game. Jordan Bruner leads the team on the glass [8.7] and in assists [4.1].

James Jones is in his 20th season in charge of the program, where he has gone 300-268 overall with three Ivy League championships and one NCAA Tournament appearance.

HOME COURT ADVANTAGE

Harvard is 4-1 at home this season, and holds a .804 winning percentage at home under head coach Tommy Amaker. The Crimson has won 17 of its last 19 games at home, and 23 of its last 26. Since the start of the 2013-14 season, Harvard holds a 30-7 home record against Ivy opponents.

PRESEASON POLL

Harvard was picked first in the preseason Ivy League media poll, as announced by the league office on October 16.

Harvard picked up 12 of 18 first place votes, edging second-place Penn by 15 points and third-place Yale by 22 points. The 19 media members chose Princeton as the fourth team to make the third-annual Ivy League tournament, followed by Brown, Cornell, Columbia and Dartmouth.

In coach Tommy Amaker’s tenure at Harvard, only one school has been picked first and not won at least a share of the league title [Princeton, 2012-13].

BEATING THE ODDS

The Crimson is 4-14 against ranked opponents since 2008-09, marking the only four wins over ranked opponents in program history. The Crimson boasts one win over a top-10 team, coming against 10th-ranked New Mexico in the 2013 NCAA Tournament. Harvard went 2-2 against ranked foes last season after falling to Saint Mary’s in the opening round of the Wooden Legacy and at Kentucky Dec. 2, while UNC was Harvard’s first ranked opponent this season.

AGAINST THE ACC

Harvard is 2-4 all-time against North Carolina, with the Crimson earning its victories in 1925 and 1926. When facing current ACC programs, Harvard holds a 20-60 mark, with 16 wins coming against Boston College. Harvard’s last meeting with an ACC program came against BC on Dec. 7, 2016 - a 74-66 win - while Harvard is 8-4 against ACC teams in the Tommy Amaker era.

ALL-AMERICA

Junior Seth Towns became the program’s fourth AP All-America selection a year ago, while he also became the fourth player in program history to be named the Ivy League Player of the Year, joining Joe Carrabino ’85, Keith Wright ’12 and Wesley Saunders ’15. He was the second sophomore to earn the honor in the 43-year history of the award. Kicking off 2018-19, Towns was named to the Lou Henson Award watch list.

PLAYER OF THE YEAR

Junior Seth Towns became the fourth player in program history to be named Ivy Player of the Year, joining Joe Carrabino ’85, Keith Wright ’12 and Wesley Saunders ’15. He was the first underclassman to win the honor in a decade, as Cornell’s Louis Dale earned the award as a sophomore in 2007-08.

The Columbus, Ohio native was also a unanimous selection to the All-Ivy League first team. Towns led the Crimson with 15.8 points per game last season, including 18.6 percent during Ivy play, which ranked second in the league. A versatile scorer, Towns hit 49.3 percent of his 3-point attempts in Ivy play while hitting the third-most triples. He also averaged 5.4 rebounds and 1.8 assists per game.
A Balanced Attack
16 different Harvard players started a game last season, which led the nation. So far this season, 11 different players have started a game, which also co-leads the country with Princeton, Detroit Mercy, Eastern Washington and Incarnate Word.

All-Ivy League
Junior Chris Lewis was also named to the All-Ivy League first team after establishing himself as the most dominant interior presence in the conference. Lewis scored 12.7 points per game with 5.5 rebounds and a league-best 1.6 blocked shots per game. He also ranked 15th on the national level with a 60.1 field goal percentage.

ON THE ROAD AGAIN
Harvard went 12-2 in conference play last year, including an impressive 5-2 mark on the road. The Crimson boasted a third of all Ivy road wins in 2018, with the other seven teams combining to go 13-39.

Harvard is 4-6 away from home this season, with six of the 10 being decided by six points or less.

The 200-Win Club
Tommy Amaker, The Thomas G. Sternberg ’71 Family Endowed Coach for Harvard Men’s Basketball, became the fifth coach in Ivy League history to reach 200 wins with an Ivy school after a win over Dartmouth Jan. 20. Amaker was the second-fastest to achieve the honor, doing it in 315 games. Princeton’s Pete Carril did it the quickest, in 286 games, while Penn’s Fran Dunphy (316 games) and Yale’s Joe Vancisin (415) and James Jones (417) have also reached 200 wins.

Amaker has 395 total wins as a Division I head coach, which also spans time at Seton Hall and Michigan. He is already the all-time winningest head coach in Harvard basketball history, surpassing Frank Sullivan with a win over Boston College Dec. 7, 2016.

At Harvard Commencement
2017-18 Harvard men’s basketball senior captain Chris Egi ‘18 was selected amongst a surplus of applicants to be one of Harvard commencement’s student speakers. He gave his speech in front of the more than 32,000 in attendance, and is the only athlete in recent memory to earn the opportunity.

Egi was selected as a student orator after winning a competition among a plethora of Harvard students. One of the oldest and most cherished traditions of commencement, three students are chosen from a panel of judges to deliver an address. The first of these orations is delivered in Latin by a graduating senior from the College, the second, in English, also by a graduating senior from the College, and the third by a student representative of the thirteen Harvard graduate and professional schools.

Nail Biter
Last year, Harvard was 4-3 in games decided by three points or less and is 25-28 all-time in games decided by three points or less under head coach Tommy Amaker. Harvard is 1-2 in three point games this season.

Conference Play
The Crimson went 12-2 in 2017-18 after a pair of victories over Dartmouth, Princeton, Yale, Brown and Cornell, and one apiece over Columbia and Penn. Harvard was led by Seth Towns’ 18.6 points per game in conference play, which ranked second in the league.

Harvard outscored its opponents by a 7.1-point margin in conference action, while allowing Ancient Eight foes to just 65.7 points per game, 3.4 points better than second-place Penn.

Welcome, Welcome, Welcome!
Adding a talented group of four to a strong core of returning players, the Harvard men’s basketball program announced the class of 2022 in June. Kale Catchings (F, O’Fallon, Mo.), Mason Forbes (F, Folsom, Calif.), Spencer Freedman (G, Pacific Palisades, Calif.) and Noah Kirkwood (G, Oshawa, Ontario).

Zig-Zag
Junior Christian Juzang burst onto the scene in conference play a year ago, where he is averaged 10.9 points, 4.1 rebounds and a team-high 4.0 assists per game. Juzang set a career-best with 20 points against Princeton, and topped it just a week later with 21 against Brown. He also dished a career-best eight assists against Yale.

Juzang opened conference play this season with 20 points at Dartmouth and 19 points at home vs. Dartmouth.

From Down-Towns
Junior Seth Towns was one of the top shooters in the Ivy League last season, as he led the league in 3-point percentage (.441) and ranked in the top-10 for 3-pointers made (53). Towns also ranked seventh in the league in overall scoring (16.0 points) and ninth in rebounding (5.7 boards).

In Ivy games only, Towns ranked second with 18.6 points and 2.6 triples per game on 49.3 percent shooting from deep.

Brother vs. Brother
Senior Robbie Feinberg and Yale first-year Michael Feinberg will face off for the first time in their collegiate careers on Friday. Both players overlapped for one year in high school in Hidden Hills, California.

DUH-NUH-NUH, DUH-NUH-NUH

Harvard was on television in some form for 30 of its 32 games last year, including a Dec. 2 contest on ESPN’s main channel against Kentucky. It was just the second time in program history that Harvard men’s basketball appeared on ESPN’s flagship channel, with the first coming in 2011 against Oklahoma State in the NIT. Harvard has had 11 televised games to start the season, with nine games appearing on ESPN+ and one on ESPN2 and two on NESN.

Additionally, then-first-year Danilo Djuricic appeared in SportsCenter’s top-10 plays countdown Dec. 6 after his ferocious tip-jam against Fordham, and Christian Juzang made the list with a half-court buzzer beater March 10 against Cornell.

SOLD OUT

Since 2010-11, the Crimson has played in front of a full house a total of 48 times, including six sell-outs in 2017-18 and two in 2018-19.

GOLD FOR CANADA

Sophomore Danilo Djuricic helped lead Canada to gold at the 2017 U19 FIBA World Championships in Cairo, Egypt. Playing a crucial role for the team, Djuricic averaged 10.4 points, 4.7 rebounds and 2.0 made 3’s per game. The championship was Canada’s first in the event’s history. First-year Noah Kirkwood also played on the team, averaging 4.1 points and 3.0 rebounds per game.

ATHLETE ACTIVISM

For the third-consecutive year, the Harvard men’s basketball program partnered with the Harvard Institute of Politics (IOP) to bring a highly-distinguished speaker and moderator to the JFK Forum. This year, men’s basketball alumnus and former U.S. Secretary of Education Arne Duncan ’87 joined David Gergen for an event titled “Education & the State of Affairs in Washington.”

In 2017, Harvard men’s basketball standout and current NFL Today on CBS host James Brown ’73 came to campus alongside Dr. Harry Edwards, Professor Emeritus of Sociology at UC Berkeley. The two discussed social issues surrounding sports. This was the second year Head Coach Tommy Amaker had put on an event like this, after the previous year inviting Kareem Abdul-Jabbar to campus. This social issue discussion gained national media attention in an article from the AP, which was also featured in the New York Times, ABC News, Washington Post, USA Today and many others.

Aiken Breakin’ Ankles

Point guard Bryce Aiken became the eighth player in program history to earn Ivy Rookie of the Year honors, including the third under Tommy Amaker, doing so in 2017.

Margin of Victory

Under head coach Tommy Amaker, the Crimson has won 48 games by 20 or more points, 12 games by 30 or more points, and three games by 40 or more.

Creating a Winning Culture

Harvard has posted a 197-88 (.693) overall record since the start of the 2009-10 season, and entered the season with the 10th-highest win percentage in the country over the last seven seasons among mid-majors.

Harvard has posted a 106-18 (.854) record at Lavietes Pavilion since the start of the 2009-10 season.

On the Sidelines

Head coach Tommy Amaker’s 219 wins are the most at Harvard and the fourth-most in the Ivy League since the conference began competition in 1956. His 107 Ivy League victories, meanwhile, sit sixth in conference history. Amaker has led Harvard to six Ivy League championships.

Harvard Coach Harvard Wins
1. Pete Carril, Princeton 1967-96 219
2. Tommy Amaker, 2007-present 107
3. James Jones, Yale 1999-pres. 106
5. Siyani Chambers, Germany 1997-85
6. Kyle Casey, 9.3 pts, 5.9 reb, 2.5 ast, 0.6 stl, 0.7 blk (NBA G-League)
7. Evan Harris - 18.6 pts, 10.7 reb, 2.1 ast, 1.4 stl, 1.2 blk (Italy)
9. Kyle Casey - 8.7 pts, 7.4 reb, 0.7 ast, 0.9 blk (Canada)

Comeback Kids

Harvard overcame double-digit deficits twice last season, coming at Fordham (12-point deficit) and at Princeton (10-point deficit). Harvard has won two games in Tommy Amaker’s tenure after trailing by 20 or more points.

Nonconference Watch

Harvard has gone 110-73 in non-conference play under head coach Tommy Amaker, including 10 of 12 total seasons with a .500 record or better in out-of-conference action. Amaker went 7-6 in 2018-19.

Harvard owns a 15-25 record against power conference opponents under Tommy Amaker. The Crimson defeated Boston College in six straight seasons from 2009-2014, again in 2016-17 and has topped Auburn, California, Cincinnati, Colorado, Florida State, Michigan, TCU and Utah.

Alums Around the World

• Kyle Casey - 9.3 pts, 5.9 reb, 2.5 ast, 0.6 stl, 0.7 blk (NBA G-League)
• Siyani Chambers - 4.6 pts, 1.4 reb, 3.2 ast, 0.4 stl (Germany)
• Brandyn Curry - 12.4 pts, 2.3 reb, 3.5 ast, 1.1 stl (France)
• Evan Harris - 18.6 pts, 10.7 reb, 2.1 ast, 1.4 stl, 1.2 blk (Norway)
• Wesley Saunders - 10.8 pts, 7.4 reb, 3.4 ast, 1.0 stl (Italy)
• Keith Wright - 8.7 pts, 7.4 reb, 0.7 ast, 0.9 blk (Canada)

Chasing History

• Harvard won at least 20 games in six straight seasons from 2009-15, matching Penn (1969-75) for the longest streak of 20-win seasons in Ivy League history.
• The Crimson won five straight Ivy League championships from 2010-15, becoming just the second program in Ancient Eight history to win at least five successive titles [Penn 1970-75, 1978-82].

PRINCIPLED LEADERSHIP, ACADEMIC INTEGRATION & COMPETITIVE EXCELLENCE
Tommy Amaker, The Thomas G. Stemberg ’71 Family Endowed Coach for Harvard Men’s Basketball
Duke University ’87
12th season at Harvard, 219-126 overall, 107-49 Ivy League

In the 11 seasons since taking over as head coach of Harvard’s men’s basketball program, Tommy Amaker has reinvented the Crimson into an Ivy League power with a national presence. He has directed Harvard to a period of unprecedented prosperity in the form of four NCAA tournament appearances (2012-15), six Ivy League championships (2011-15, 2018) and six 20-win seasons (2010-15). Amaker is the all-time winningest coach with the Crimson, surpassing Frank Sullivan with a 74-66 win at Boston College Dec. 7, 2016.

Amaker was introduced as head coach by Nichols Family Director of Athletics Bob Scalise on April 13, 2007, following six seasons as head coach at Michigan and four at the helm of Seton Hall. Amaker owns a 357-255 career record: 211-118 at Harvard, 108-84 at Michigan and 68-55 at Seton Hall. He has earned numerous Coach of the Year awards, including the 2013 Clarence “Big House” Gaines College Basketball Coach of the Year Award, presented to the top men’s basketball coach in NCAA Division I. In 2012, he was presented with district coach of the year awards from both the United States Basketball Writers Association and National Association of Basketball Coaches, and was a candidate for the AP National Coach of the Year. He has also been named a finalist for the Ben Jobe Award five times (2011-15), and the Hugh Durham Award three times (2011, 2012, 2015).

With Amaker at the helm, Harvard student-athletes have garnered six All-America honors, 13 All-District distinctions and 32 all-conference accolades. Additionally, Keith Wright ’12, Wesley Saunders ’15 (2014) and Seth Towns (2018) have been named Ivy League Player of the Year, Siyani Chambers ’16-17 and Bryce Aiken ’20, two Ivy League Defensive Players of the Year (Steve Moundou-Missi ’15 & Agunwa Okolie ’16), three Ivy League Players of the Year (Keith Wright ’12, Wesley Saunders ’15 & Seth Towns ’20), and one NBA signee (Jeremy Lin ’10).

Among Amaker’s career achievements:
- 387-258 record (.600)
- 13 postseason appearances
- 2004 NIT championship
- Five NCAA tournament appearances, including 2000 Sweet Sixteen
- Coached six NBA players

The Crimson captured its sixth Ivy League crown in program history in 2017-18, each coming under Amaker, breaking the second-longest Ivy win streak in program history (27-5 in 2013-14, 26-5 in 2011-12, 23-7 in 2010-11, 22-6 in 2009-10 and 20-10 in 2012-13)
- Two wins in the NCAA tournament (68-62 vs. No. 3 New Mexico, March 21, 2013; 61-57 vs. No. 5 Cincinnati, March 20, 2014), Harvard’s first two NCAA tournament wins
- 28-game home winning streak from 2010-12
- 2013 Great Alaska Shootout tournament champions
- 2011 Battle 4 Atlantis tournament champions
- 15 wins against power-conference opponents, with Amaker setting a new record for Atlantic Coast Conference teams
- Four wins against ranked teams
- Appearance in the first two inaugural Ivy League tournaments

With a victory over Dartmouth on Jan. 20, Amaker became the all-time winningest men’s basketball coach in Harvard history, surpassing the previous mark with a 74-66 win at Boston College. Amaker also ended the season as the all-time leader at Harvard in Ivy wins (94).

In 2014-15, Harvard finished the regular season tied with Yale for the Ancient Eight crown. The Crimson defeated the Bulldogs in a one-game playoff for the right to represent the Ivy League in the NCAA tournament, where it fell to fourth-seeded North Carolina, 67-65, despite taking a 65-63 lead with 1:15 to play. Harvard also completed its second straight season sweep of traditional Ivy powers Penn and Princeton during the regular season, becoming the first program in conference history to do in consecutive years.

In 2013-14, the 12th-seeded Crimson knocked off fifth-seeded Cincinnati in the tournament’s second round, and nearly pulled off an upset of fourth-seeded Michigan State to reach the Sweet 16. Harvard finished the year with a 27-5 overall record and a 13-1 mark in the Ivy League, setting program bests for both overall victories and conference victories, and also captured the title at the Great Alaska Shootout along the way. Additionally, a record six Crimson were named to the All-Ivy League teams, including player of the year Wesly Saunders ‘15.

A year earlier, Harvard earned a historic win in the NCAA tournament as the 14th-seeded Crimson upset third-seeded New Mexico, which was ranked 10th nationally. The victory was the first over the Lobos against a top-10 opponent and left Harvard among the nation’s top 32 teams at season’s end. The 2012-13 season also saw Amaker become the fourth head coach to win 100 games at Harvard, reaching that milestone on Jan. 5, 2013, when the Crimson defeated Rice, 92-62.

A win in the NCAA tournament was a natural progression after the 2011-12 season, perhaps the best overall campaign in program history and the first in which the Crimson claimed sole possession of the Ivy title. En route to ending its 65-year NCAA tournament drought, Harvard debuted in the national rankings, climbing as high as No. 21 in the ESPN/USA Today coaches poll and No. 22 in the Associated Press poll. Finishing 26-5, Harvard eclipsed the program’s previous record for wins for the third straight year and matched the previous season’s program-best 12-2 Ivy mark. The Crimson also won the inaugural Battle 4 Atlantis tournament, with wins against Utah, No. 20 Florida State and UCF.

For his effort, Amaker was named the USBWA and NABC district coach of the year, as well as the College Insider Ivy League Coach of the Year. Amaker was also tabbed a finalist for the Ben Jobe Award and the Hugh Durham Award for coaching and was selected as a candidate for the AP National Coach of the Year. He received the NABC, College Insider, Jobe and Durham recognitions for the second straight year.

Harvard’s first Ivy crown came in 2010-11, when the Crimson went 23-7, tied Princeton at 12-2 in league play, set a program record with 14 home wins and made its first NIT appearance. The 23 wins briefly held as the program standard, erasing the 21 victories from 2009-10 from the top spot. That 2009-10 campaign ended in the CollegeInsider.com Tournament, Harvard’s first postseason berth since 1946.

Amaker’s first two seasons showed signs of the great achievements to come. The 2008-09 freshman class was tabbed as one of the nation’s 25 best recruiting classes by ESPN, an accolade never before bestowed upon an Ivy League institution. The Crimson went on to post a victory at No. 17 Boston College. The marquee win in Amaker’s debut season of 2007-08 was a 62-51 victory over Michigan—Amaker’s former team—on national television.

At Michigan, Amaker inherited a program that was reeling from institutional NCAA sanctions. The program was given a one-year probation and was not eligible for postseason play. Despite the sanctions, Amaker led the team to the Sweet 16 in 2007, the program’s second straight season of NCAA tournament play, and its first since 1998. Harvard finished the year with a 19-10 record, including an 8-6 mark in the Ivy League. The Crimson were also tabbed the top team in the Ivy League for the second straight season.

Amaker’s first two seasons also saw the Crimson reach the Round of 32 in the NCAA tournament, falling to Arizona State in 2008 and to Wisconsin in 2009.

PrINCIPLED LEADERSHIP, ACADEMIC INTEGRATION & COMPETITIVE EXCELLENCE
#20 Justin Bassey
Junior | Guard | 6-5 | 215
Denver, Colo. | Colorado Academy | Economics

Three things to know...

1: An athletic wing who is one of the best defenders on the team and routinely gets the hardest match-up.
2: Graduated as Colorado Academy's all-time leading scorer with 2,159 career points.
3: Competed in the 2016 FIBA Asia U18 Championship, where he led Thailand in both scoring and rebounding.

Sophomore (2017-18): All-Ivy League honorable mention. Ivy League honor roll (Feb. 26). Averaged 8.0 points, a team-high 5.9 rebounds and 2.5 assists per game – improved to 10.2 points per game during Ivy League action. Scored six points with 10 rebounds against Northeastern (Nov. 30) and Minnesota (Dec. 30). Added 11 points against Boston University (Dec. 21) and Dartmouth (Jan. 6). Notched his first-career double-double with 10 points and 10 rebounds at Dartmouth (Jan. 20). Scored 13 points at Brown (Jan. 27). And had 12 against Penn (Feb. 10). Scored a then-career-best 18 points against Princeton (Feb. 23) and Cornell (March 2). Notched career-bests of 19 points, 12 rebounds and four steals in the first round of the NIT at Marquette (March 14). Helped Harvard to its sixth Ivy League championship in program history, and its second-ever berth in the NIT.
