Tufts’ Adamec Named Player of the Year

HADLEY, Mass. – Junior attack Dakota Adamec (Katoniah, N.Y.) of Tufts has been named the NESCAC Player of the Year as voted on by the league’s coaches. Adamec, an All-NESCAC First Team selection, has 63 points on 49 goals and 14 assists and is tied for the league lead in scoring. She helped the Jumbos qualify for the NESCAC Championship for the 11th consecutive season. Adamec is the first Tufts player to earn NESCAC Player of the Year honors.

• Amherst junior Sabrina Solow is the NESCAC Defensive Player of the Year. The Madison, N.J. native is the second Mammoth to garner the award, joining Alex Philie (2014). Solow also earned a spot on the First Team, as she moved up from her Second Team selection last season. Solow is tied for second among the league-leaders in caused turnovers (33) and has 42 ground balls on the year.

• Middlebury placed five players on the All-NESCAC teams. Amherst, Bowdoin, Trinity, Tufts and Wesleyan were each represented by a trio of athletes.

• There were eight repeat All-NESCAC honorees, including six on the First Team, which included three players elevating from the Second Team last season to First Team this year.

• Senior attack Kiley Coffey (West Newbury, Mass.) of Trinity earns her first All-NESCAC accolade of her career with a spot on the First Team. She is the leading goal scorer in the conference with 58 tallies and ranks third in points with 61. She has led the Bantams to their ninth straight semifinal appearance.

• Amherst’s Julia Crerend (New Canaan, Conn.) earns her first All-NESCAC accolade. The senior attack leads the Mammoths in scoring with 58 points and 49 goals. She also has 20 ground balls and 12 caused turnovers this season, helping lead Amherst to the No. 2 seed in the NESCAC Tournament and a semifinal appearance.

• Emma McDonagh (Reading, Mass.), a junior at Middlebury, rounds out the First Team attackers. She earns her first All-NESCAC honor after leading the Panther offense with 48 points on 29 goals and 19 assists. Top-seeded Middlebury will host the remaining rounds of the NESCAC Championship for the eighth time in program history.

• Wesleyan midfielder Abigail Horst (Pomfret, Conn.) guided the Cardinals to their second straight NESCAC Championship appearance. The junior scored a team-high 34 goals and ranked among the team leaders in caused turnovers (14). She also collected 19 ground balls and won 26 draws.

• Middlebury midfielder Hollis Perticone (Darien, Conn.), the 2017 NESCAC Player of the Year, earns her second straight All-NESCAC First Team honor. Perticone, a senior, is the NESCAC leader in draws (101) and has 25 goals for the Panthers.

• Trinity goalie Zoe Ferguson (Ridgewood, N.J.) earns a spot on the All-NESCAC First Team. She is the NESCAC Rookie of the Year and a First Team All-NESCAC selection. Ferguson ranks among the league leaders in points (48), goals (26) and assists (22), while also winning 53 draws and recording 25 ground balls. Ferguson is the first Mammoth to be named Rookie of the Year.

• Amherst head coach Christine Paradis was selected as the NESCAC Coach of the Year by her peers. It is the second time in her 24 years at Amherst she has garnered the honor. She also received the award in 2014. The Mammoths earned the No. 2 seed in the NESCAC Championship and finished the conference regular season with a 9-1 record.
