COACHING STAFF

Jay Smith, a Mio, Michigan native, was named head coach in July, 2016. During his first season, the Hornets more than doubled their win total from the previous year and improved the Hornet defense (ranking 1st in defensive field goal percentage and 2nd in rebounding margin). In year two, the Hornets again improved their win total, including winning three in a row for the first time since 2011. A 34-year veteran of college basketball, Coach Smith has made stops at the University of Detroit Mercy, Central Michigan, Grand Valley State, the University of Michigan and Kent State. At each stop, Coach Smith has won a conference championship and made an NCAA Tournament appearance.

Nate Frisbie is beginning his third season as an assistant at Kalamazoo College. Coach Frisbie has spent time in various roles at the NCAA Division I level, junior college, and high school levels. He primarily works with the wings and handles equipment and video.

Kevin White is in his second stint as an assistant coach for the Hornets. Coach White has coached at the college, junior college, prep school, high school, and AAU levels. Coach White played at Glen Oaks C.C. and primarily works with the point guards and is the Recruiting Coordinator.

INFORMATION

The Kalamazoo College basketball camp is designed to be skill development driven with an emphasis on the fundamentals of basketball: dribbling, passing, shooting, defense, and rebounding. Over the course of the camp, each player will receive direct coaching from a member of the Kalamazoo College Men’s Basketball team. Camps will be fast-paced with games and competitions in the afternoon. The player will leave camp with the fundamentals to further develop their skills and become an all-around player.
