The Wellesley College department of Physical Education, Recreation and Athletics is the catalyst for all students to learn, play, compete and achieve an active balanced lifestyle.

Wellesley Welcomes Home 2018 U.S. Olympian Clare Egan ’10

On April 23, 2018, members of the Wellesley community gathered in Tishman Commons to meet U.S. biathlete Clare Egan ’10 (right) and hear about her experience competing in the 2018 Winter Olympic Games in Pyeongchang, South Korea. While at Wellesley, Egan was on the cross-country and track teams, and she founded Wellesley’s Nordic Ski Team. The event was moderated by current varsity crew student-athletes Olivia Holbrook ’20 (left), Faye Washburn ’20 (center).

The 2017-21 PERA Strategic Vision outlines three priority areas critical to the overall mission of PERA. Those priorities, along with select 2017-18 accomplishments, are listed below.

1. Provide exceptional opportunities for students to learn, play and compete.
   - Completed a comprehensive review of the PERA Learning Outcomes in anticipation of the re-accreditation
   - Establishment of the LeadBLUE Leadership Academy; implemented four successful workshops. President Paula Johnson was featured as a guest speaker on February 15th
   - Secured travel expense payment options for nine Club Sport teams

2. Purposely engage students toward athletic, recreation and PE successes.
   - Added recreation specific questions to the American College Health Association and National College Health Assessment to better evaluate the overall success of recreation programming on the whole student population
   - Awarded an NCAA Ethnic Minority and Women’s Internship Grant to create the Coordinator of Facilities and Events position

3. Strengthen offerings and facilities through strategic resource attainment and allocation.
   - Friends of Wellesley College Athletics increased the number of donors by 32% (125 additional donors) to reach a four year old goal of 500 donors
   - Secured a $5 million gift to complete the track, turf and light project
   - Increased facility rentals revenue from $112,000 to $119,000; this is up from $100,000 in 2015-16

“IN THEIR OWN WORDS”

The Student Evaluation Questionnaire (SEQ) is administered to every physical education student to assess the overall impact of the course and the instructor in relation to PERA’s mission of developing skills and knowledge on the importance of regular physical activity * is a great way to exercise and refresh yourself. I had never done it before but I can say now that it is one of my favorite ways to exercise.”

“Spinning

“I found this class very accessible, and I would recommend this class to people with all different backgrounds of yoga... The supportive atmosphere of the course and the idea of no judgment in the room was also very helpful to providing an ideal environment for practicing. I have already recommended this course to many students and I intend to recommend this course to many more students.”

“I cannot express how much I think everyone should take a Zumba course in their Wellesley career. You do not need to be a good dancer to enjoy and excel at Zumba. It is a fun, positive, and healthy environment that promotes good energy and an active lifestyle.”

“I would wholeheartedly recommend this course - it is challenging and engaging and fun and everything that I could have dreamed for in a PE course! And I loved how we bonded as a group!!”

The Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC) is made up of 27 members representing 13 teams. SAAC is the student voice on campus and aims to promote effective communication between student-athletes, coaches, and the athletic administration to create greater awareness of intercollegiate athletics for the participants as well as the community.

STUDENT-ATHLETE LEADERSHIP

HIGHLIGHTS

- Hosted “open meetings” for any student-athlete to attend and discuss various topics, which included sexual violence prevention, diversity and inclusion and mental health
- An active role in promoting college spirit through organizing and staffing “EarnTheW” days. EarnTheW days highlight contests on a specific date during the fall, winter and spring seasons, and involve celebrations of school spirit through t-shirt giveaways and fan engagement

LeadBLUE

The Wellesley College LeadBLUE Athletics Leadership program is a comprehensive student-athlete experience designed to facilitate leadership development tools and educational opportunities for all student-athletes in addition to their team practices and competitions.

FALL SEMESTER
Mental health support assessment with varsity student-athletes by Jessica Pfeifer Stewart, PsyD

SPRING SEMESTER
30 hours of education/training was offered to coaches and student-athletes on a wide variety of topics including: mindfulness, self-care, and emotion regulation

AMPs
The Athlete Mentor Program or AMP is designed for returning varsity student-athletes who aim to support incoming first year student-athletes in their transition to college athletics. The program seeks to create a fun and positive environment for new student-athletes at Wellesley, while helping first year student-athletes fully join in the athletic community. The AMPs additionally lend their experience to assist with facilitation of LeadBLUE Leadership Academy programming.

2017-18 CLUB SPORTS YEAR IN REVIEW

ARCHERY
• Eight archers competed at Indoor Nationals (4 first years) and one (Karley Bussow) to Outdoor collegiate Nationals
• Archery Coach EG LeBre, was selected as USA Archery’s East Regional Coach of the Year and National Collegiate Coach of the Year

EQUESTRIAN
• Competed in four competitions including the Bentley show in which

ICE HOCKEY
• The club used this season to focus on skill development. This year’s coach made the most of the small roster to focus on giving quality instruction

NORDIC SKIING
• The team’s second year of competition was marked successes at three races and a winter retreat. It saw a 37% increase in roster size and 45% of skiers were new
• The highlight of the season was the team training trip, 25 skiers attended

RUGBY
• With seven very talented rookies, the team excelled during league restructuring. The team competed in 15s, 13s, and 10s matches and added a very successful alumnae match over Family and Friends weekend
• The team’s continued success indicates that it will be well positioned to move up to a more competitive division in 2019-20

SAILING
• The team competed in three regattas.
• Kate Azar and Meghan Timmons sailed together at the George Morris Trophy at BU and earned top finishes during the regatta

• 100% of the current team members indicated their interest in competing again in the 2018-19 season
• The annual Seven Sisters Tournament was a team highlight and was a wonderful opportunity for new members to realize how the experience of being on the squash team goes beyond personal achievement and improvements

ULTIMATE FRISBEE

2017-18 PERA Annual Report | 20
• The Whiptails competed in three major competitions seeing improvements in player ability
• Both teams are looking forward to the 2018-19 season based on competition success and addressing attendance issues for practices

WATER POLO
• The team competed in three North Atlantic Division tournaments at Yale, Bowdoin and MIT
• The Nationals Championship held by University of Washington at Mt. Hood Community College was a season highlight. Wellesley is the only women’s college ever to enter the National Championship. Wellesley is the only team in the nation that has entered the championship three times as the runner-up of the division and achieved the best standing so far in program history (12th place)
