The Following is a list of Sexual Respect Resources, Areas of Support, and Opportunities for Collaboration to Guide and Inform Future Requests and Referrals.

Workshops & Trainings

Workshops and trainings cover topics such as bystander intervention, consent education, healthy relationships, sexual violence and relationship violence prevention, and survivor support. Workshops are geared towards small groups and can range from 1-2 hours and be tailored to meet your needs and learning objectives.

Campus Programming

We organize both small, targeted programs and large-scale campus events. Programs and events range from campus-wide campaigns, speakers, dialogues, passive activities, and performances. Some signature events are The Clothesline Project, It’s on Us Campaign, and the 24-Hour Healing Fire.

Consultation & Referral

Available as a resource to explore ideas or questions related to sexual respect, as well as provide resources and information. Please note, Sexual Respect Education is mandated to report incidents of sexual misconduct to Title IX. See the opposite side for key campus and community resources.

Printed Materials

Educational posters, informational brochures, and resource cards pertaining to topics of sexual respect can be requested for your office or to share with your students. We can also work with you to create a specific printed resource to meet your interests and needs.

Peer Advocates for Sexual Respect

The Peer Advocates for Sexual Respect are paid student educators trained in topics of sexual respect. They organize campus-wide awareness raising events, programs such as the #SurvivorSupport Series, and workshops for student groups across campus. They are trained to offer support and referrals for on-campus resources to students impacted by violence.
