Dear friends of Saint Anselm College,

A bright light shined on Saint Anselm Athletics on Saturday (Jan. 27) when we hosted the 2018 Athletics Hall of Fame Banquet and Induction Ceremony on campus at the New Hampshire Institute of Politics.

In February 2017, after a 10-year hiatus, we proudly reinstated the Hall of Fame with an amazing event. This most recent edition exceeded our expectations and SOLD OUT several days in advance! It was a pleasure for our staff and coaches to welcome so many alumni and former student-athletes back to the Hilltop for a memorable night honoring the seven inductees and their families.

Highlighting our Class of 2018 were Cindy (Lebel) Tipping, the first women’s ice hockey player inducted into the Hall of Fame, and Geoff Raby, the first modern-era football player to be selected. They were joined by John O’Connell and Todd Manuel (men’s basketball), Kathleen Shippee (women’s basketball), Jocelyn (Savastano) Aguilar (women’s soccer) and Jason Karalexis (men’s soccer).

A belated “From the AD’s Desk” congratulatory note to Keith Dickson, Head Men’s Basketball Coach. Coach Dickson secured his 600th career victory last month and the Hawks sit atop the NE10 standings with an overall record of 16-4. Junior Tim Guers leads the way averaging more than 22 points per game and has been tabbed NE10 Player of the Week four times this season.

Women’s basketball gears up for the last half of conference play and boasts a record of 12-9 (8-6 NE10) to date. Sophomore Shannon Ryan is averaging a double-double through 20-plus contests at 18 points and 10 rebounds per game!

The Hawks also continue to do great things on the ice. Kudos to both squads for successfully hosting their annual Pink in the Rink Weekend on January 19-20.

Women’s ice hockey continues to stack up wins; the Coach Matthews-led squad is currently 16-2-3 with six games to go in the regular season; two each against St. Mike’s, Sacred Heart and Holy Cross.

Lastly, good luck to the men’s ice hockey team (8-8-1 on the year) tonight at home versus Stonehill in a key NE10 matchup, before the team hits the road for five straight.

Go Hawks!
