NORTHEAST-10 CONFERENCE MEN’S ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Nacho Hernando-Angulo, So. New Hampshire
(Jr., Logrono, Spain)

Hernando-Angulo set a new So. New Hampshire University 8,000-meter record on Saturday en route to capturing the 2015 UMass-Dartmouth Invitational. He traversed the terrain in 25:13, which was 54 seconds faster than the previous record holder. Hernando-Angulo topped a field of 324 student-athletes, and bested the closest competitor by 1.41 seconds.

NORTHEAST-10 CONFERENCE WOMEN’S ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Nicole Borofski, Stonehill
(Jr., Plymouth, Mass.)

Borofski led Stonehill to its second consecutive team title at the Kutztown University Division II/III Challenge on Saturday, as she finished first overall out of 94 entries with a time of 22:41.8 on the six-kilometer Farm Course.

NORTHEAST-10 CONFERENCE MEN’S ROOKIE OF THE WEEK

Cody Murphy, Bentley
(Fr., Dunbarton, N.H.)

Murphy was the first Falcon across the finish line at the UMass-Dartmouth Invitational over the weekend, placing 41st overall and covering the five-mile course in 26:35.73.

NORTHEAST-10 CONFERENCE WOMEN’S ROOKIE OF THE WEEK

Ivy Chepyegon, American Int’l
(Fr., Kabarnet, Kenya)

Chepyegon placed fifth at the D2 Challenge hosted by Kutztown, crossing the line in 23:26.9 at the 6k course for the Yellow Jackets. Chepyegon was the first rookie to cross the line.
Stonehill was ranked in both the men’s and women’s USTFCCCA National Coaches’ Polls released last week. The Skyhawk women came in at No. 17 and the men were tied for 21st, while the American International men’s team received votes.
