“BUILDING CHAMPIONS WITH THE TOTAL STUDENT-ATHLETE”
Rhode Island College
Anchor Club

Building Champions remains the theme of the Anchor Club as alumni, family and friends continue to support the success of Rhode Island College student-athletes. The entire athletic program continues to excel as our student-athletes have garnered numerous accolades both on the field and in the classroom.

All of these accomplishments were reached in part with your support. Your generosity is vital to the Rhode Island College Intercollegiate Athletic Program and its student-athletes.

The Anchor Club is the fundraising organization for the Rhode Island College Athletic Association. In cooperation with the Rhode Island College Foundation, the Anchor Club seeks support from private sources for the benefit of these programs.

The annual financial support received from alumni and friends provides the necessary resources to enhance student-athlete support services, upgrade facilities, and improve the quality of the athletic experience. Over the past 14 years, millions of dollars in facility enhancements were completed because of the generosity of our donors.

The college participates in the Little East Conference, one of the nation’s most successful NCAA Division III conferences. Sports sponsorship includes 12 intercollegiate sports for women (golf, volleyball, soccer, cross country, indoor track, basketball, gymnastics, swimming, tennis, outdoor track, lacrosse, and softball) and nine for men (soccer, cross country, indoor track, wrestling, outdoor track, baseball, golf, and tennis).

Rhode Island College is committed to excellence both in and out of the athletic arena. For more information, call (401) 456-8007.

Another Year of Success

- The women’s tennis team posted the greatest season in program history with a 17-1 overall record. The Anchorwomen won the Little East Regular Season Championship for the third straight season, captured the program’s seventh LEC Tournament title and advanced to the NCAA Championship for the first time in school history.

- The women’s outdoor track and field team won the program’s first-ever Little East Championship as the Anchorwomen took home six event titles.

- The men’s soccer team clinched a share of the Little East Regular Season Championship for the second consecutive season and advanced to the finals of the LEC Tournament for the third straight campaign.

- The 4x100m relay team, comprised of sophomores Jacklyn Xavier, junior Eleni Grammas, junior Nicole Grammas and sophomore Emma Landroche, earned National Runner-Up and All-American honors as they notched a season place finish (46.82; new-program record) in the finals of the 2018 NCAA Div. III Women’s Outdoor Track and Field National Championship.

- Freshman Chelsea Yang earned All-American honors in the weight throw and was named the Little East Women’s Indoor and Outdoor Rookie Field Athlete of the Year. She qualified for two NCAA National Championships as an individual, broke two program records and earned multiple All-New England and All-Conference honors.

- Senior Destination Barrette qualified for the NCAA National Championship in the hammer for the fourth straight time during her career.

- Rhode Island College student-athletes earned 73 All-Conference honors to go along with two All-American, 18 All-New England, three Player and five Rookie of the Year Awards. Two RIC Head Coaches was selected as the Coach of the Year.

- During the fall of 2017, 10 student-athletes posted a 4.0 GPA, 148 earned a 3.0 or better and 97 made the Dean’s List. The spring of 2018 was also a banner semester as 11 student-athletes posted a 4.0 GPA, 135 earned a 3.0 or better and 97 made the Dean’s List.

- Rhode Island College finished in the top 35 percent of all NCAA Div. III programs in the annual Learfield Directors’ Cup standings.

- The college’s 350 student-athletes performed over 2,000 hours of community service for various local organizations.
